

To give you a background on our organization, Samunder Club is a collection of Indian merchant mariners who live and work in the Houston-New Orleans area. We are 156 Members and families, and we are employed in almost every facet of the marine industry in the gulf region – from drilling and exploration to ship management and Classification Societies. We have a two-pronged strategy – to educate ourselves on the latest technologies in the market today and to disseminate our knowledge and expertise to serve the marine industry here in the Gulf region. So far this year we have attended 5 middle and high schools to give guidance to young adults who are thinking of selecting a career at sea. We also work with the Houston Pilot Association and the Houston Port Authority in their seminars and activities.
